We want our guests to feel comfort and confidence when visiting a Ripe Tomato location. While we have always had stringent cleaning and sanitation procedures in place at our restaurants, we are taking additional precautions to keep all Guests and Team Members safe and have developed COVID-19 best practices and processes which are implemented at all of our restaurants along with honoring and aligning with the recommendations from their local health authority. We pride ourselves in continuing to pass Health Inspections with flying colors.

Ripe Cleaning:

At Ripe Tomato we track the cleanliness of our locations through regular audits and we take great pride in maintaining a clean and welcoming experience for guests. While our regular cleaning protocols are rigorous, Ripe Tomato has put additional protocols in place during this period where the containment of COVID-19 is critical. Our locations have been advised to increase the frequency of cleaning all public spaces, wiping down frequently touched items such as door handles with a bleach-containing, virus-killing formulas.

Ripe Team Member Best Practices:

Our Team Members at Ripe have been trained on the best practices associated with minimizing exposure and spread of germs and associated illnesses. This includes extreme diligence in regular hand washing, the use of anti-bacterial formulas, coughing or sneezing into their sleeve (never hands) and minimizing face touching. We have also mandated our Ripe Team Members to stay home if they are exhibiting any symptoms that align with COVID-19.

COVID-19 presents a challenge for small businesses such as ours, we hope this alleviates any concerns you may have when visiting Ripe Tomato. Our locations remain open and are available for pick up as well as delivery through Skip the Dishes and Uber Eats.
